Preface by the Series Editor	9
Acknowledgements	11
I. Introduction	13
II. Terminology	19
II.1. Chronological Terminology	19
II.2. Technical Terminology	22
III. State of Research	27
III.1. Studies on Textile Technologies	27
III.2. General Publications on Textile Tools in the Research Area	31
IV. Theory and Methods	35
IV.1. Practice Theory	35
IV.2. Agency Theory	40
IV.3. Craft Specialisation Theories	43
IV.4. Adapted and Extended Models	49
IV.5. Metrical Analyses	55
IV.5.1. Indirect Data Collecting and the Weight from Density	57
IV.6. Stylistic Analyses	61
IV.7. Moment of Inertia	61
IV.8. Statistical Analyses	63
IV.9. Typologies	66
IV.9.1. Spindle Whorls	66
IV.9.2. Loom Weights	69
V. Data	73
VI. Results – Commonalities, Changes and Continuities	83
VI.1. Analysis of Categorical Data (Shapes and Decorations)	84
VI.2. Statistical Analyses	97
VI.2.1. Two-Step Cluster Analysis	97
VI.2.2. Non-parametric Tests of Variance	100
VII. Case Study – Çukuriçi Höyük	115
VII.1. Artefact Analyses	119
VII.2. Spatial Analysis	130
VII.3. Conclusion – Çukuriçi Höyük	136

VIII. Discussion	143
VIII.1. Developments through Time – Discussion of the Descriptive Evaluation	145
VIII.1.1. Loom Weight Shapes	145
VIII.1.2. Spindle Whorl Shapes	157
VIII.1.3. Spindle Whorl Decorations	161
VIII.2. Connectivity, Commonalities and Differences – Discussion of the Analytical Evaluation	163
VIII.2.1. Limitations of the Statistical Methods	164
VIII.2.2. Understanding the Merging of Groups – Interpretation of the Results of the Two-Step Cluster Analyses	166
VIII.2.3. Understanding Patterns among the Groups – Interpretation of the Results of the Non-parametric Analyses of Variance	168
VIII.3. Observing the Big Picture – A Comprehensive Discussion	174
VIII.3.1. Connecting the Detailss – Integrative Multimethod Discussion	174
VIII.3.2. Observing the Threads and Seams – Discussion According to the Information-based Model	179
VIII.3.3. Extending the Weave and Patterns – The Final Conclusion	184
IX. Summary	191
X. Abstract – Zusammenfassung – Özet	197
XI. Bibliography	199
